Maya's Paintbrush Adventure

One quiet afternoon, Maya picked up her favorite paintbrush to paint a picture. But the moment the bristles touched the paper, they wiggled. Two tiny eyes blinked open on the handle. "Finally!" said the paintbrush. "An artist! Ready to make something amazing?" Maya grinned and asked, "What should we paint?" The brush swirled through a puddle of blue paint and pointed straight out the window.

Now it's your turn! What happens next? Write your story.

First, _____

Then _____

Next, _____

Finally, _____

Draw what happens in your story:

made with Homa for Maya